- July 2007 – present (promoted from Associate Teaching Professor, July 2013)

Vice President, Ethics, Fannie Mae, Washington, DC

- Hired to lead the ethics and business conduct function in the midst of the company's financial restatement.
 - Led a cross-functional team in a major re-write of the code of conduct and related policies to align them with the leadership, values and culture of this 6,400 employee company.
 - Oversaw the "FM Ethics" line, which fielded questions regarding the code and company policies, as well as allegations of potential wrongdoing.
 - Developed related communication and training, including a web-based overview of the code and key policies for all employees.
- Managed staff of six professionals.
- June 2006 – June 2007

Director of Compliance & Business Ethics, Smiths Group plc, Germantown, MD

- Worked with senior management to develop and implement a company-wide compliance and business ethics program for this international engineering company based in the United Kingdom, with over 30,000 employees doing business in over forty countries.
 - Ran the day-to-day operations of the company's "Compliance Council," which managed the company's compliance and business ethics program. Briefed the Audit Committee, accordingly.
 - Established policies to reflect relevant models for effective compliance including the U.S. Federal Sentencing Guidelines.
 - Supported drafting of first-ever code of conduct and resulting communications and training campaign. Conducted "train-the-trainer" sessions.
 - Managed the company's "Ethics Helpline" and responded to inquiries and complaints.
 - Identified high-risk areas and implemented training and communications as needed, e.g., hosted in-house workshops, sponsored net-conference briefings, and published "Legal & Compliance Bulletins."
- Managed staff of five focusing primarily on international trade, government contracts and supply chain compliance.
- Promoted after one year from Director of Compliance & Business Ethics for Smiths Aerospace, one of four operating divisions of Smiths Group.
- October 2003 – June 2006

Deputy Ethics Officer, MCI (formerly WorldCom, now Verizon Business), Washington, DC

- Selected to join two other company attorneys in establishing the Ethics Office in the wake of WorldCom's financial misstatement.
- Responded to issues raised via the company's "Ethics Line," including conducting internal investigations and coordinating with other internal functions.
- As part of an inter-departmental team, developed intensive, residential training for senior management and on-line training for all employees, in what was then a 55,000 employee company doing business in sixty-five countries.
- Spoke to internal and external groups to promote the company's ethics program.
- October 2002 – October 2003

Associate Counsel, MCI (formerly WorldCom, now Verizon Business), McLean, VA

- Managed Law and Public Policy department consisting of as many as four attorneys and eight contract managers, with responsibility for MCI Government Markets' sales to the federal government, international organizations, and related commercial entities.
- Counseling, Transactions, and Litigation
 - Advised management regarding a variety of areas of law including: government and commercial contracts; telecommunications; intellectual, real, and personal property; torts; employment; and international law.
 - Negotiated, drafted, and reviewed contracts relating to the purchase and sale of telecommunications products and services including the U.S. General Service Administration's multi-billion-dollar FTS2001 contract.
 - Led efforts relating to the protests of awards of federal government contracts, as well as the resolution of contract disputes.

- Compliance
 - Coordinated with other functions throughout the company to ensure compliance in contracting activities.
 - Trained Government Markets personnel with respect to the company's rights and obligations when selling to the federal government and related entities.
 - Formalized policies and procedures and instilled discipline in records management.
- Promoted and named "MCI Master" in recognition of outstanding performance.
- August 1995 – September 2002

Assistant General Counsel, PRC Inc. (formerly a subsidiary of Black & Decker, now part of Northrop Grumman), McLean, VA

- Counseled senior management of PRC, an $860 million information technology company, regarding a broad variety of issues involving contract, intellectual property, employment, and corporate law.
- Investigated and resolved issues raised under corporate compliance program, including answering the company's "Ethics Action Line." Drafted "Legal Department Bulletins" for senior management and presented "Brown Bag Lunches" on topics of current interest as part of the company's communication and training efforts under the program.
- Managed litigation and earned "PRC Teamwork Award" for successful settlement of a contract claim through first-ever alternative dispute resolution with the U.S. General Services Administration.
- March 1993 - August 1995

Associate, McKenna & Cuneo (now part of Dentons), Washington, D.C.

- Provided litigation and counseling services to some of the nation's largest government contractors.
 - Exercised significant responsibility in litigation relating to protests of contract awards, contract claims, the Federal Tort Claims Act, and the Freedom of Information Act.
 - Researched and wrote memoranda, client correspondence, and seminar materials relating to government procurement and commercial contract law.
- August 1989 - March 1993
